

WOMEN'S MIXED MARTIAL ARTS COMMUNITY & Fighting Network

MMA Woman.com

Important News Update

July 1 2007

You are receiving this newsletter on behalf of MMAWoman.com

Female Fighting FEATURE ARTICLE of the Week

"King" of Queens– It's all in the Name of this Female Fighter"

Right now Lisa is enjoying the great publicity she's gained from being on Oxygen Channel's weekly TV show.

When Oxygen Channel decides to do something big, they get the best people involved with their plans. After a successful pilot 2 hour movie of Fight Girls premiered last summer on the Oxygen Network, the broadcast company hand selected a couple of women who they could rely on to get the job done again, doing it bigger, and better.

So it was no surprise to MMA Fans when Gina Carano and Lisa King were invited to "coach" the girls to victory.

READ ARTICLE

MMAWoman.com - Female Mixed Martial Arts Community

AMMAA Starts Publishing News on MMAWoman.com

Amateur Mixed Martial Arts association will now self-publish news on MMAWoman.com. AMMAA founder Augie Shumati said "the choice couldn't of been of more value to us. Now we can post timely MMA information for our readers right on our Buyer's Guide pages, without web designer skills or experience."

Check Out Amateur Mixed Martial Arts Association

---

Miss MMA Photoshoot Takes Place at Fighthouse NYC

Miss MMA announced they have completed a photo shoot with Bobby Black, Las Vegas photographer, for a campaign to promote their elite contestant search for the perfect round card girls nationwide. The company also announced the services available for event promoters who desire one-stop shopping for round card girl services. Call 1-877-Miss-MMA to learn more.

In the shoot with FightChix Apparel, Shana Marie shows why she was crowned Miss MMA 2007.

Check out the photos from this modeling session.

